Information on the payment terminal

A payment terminal is the device used to make card payments (e.g. Maestro, MasterCard, PostFinance Card, VISA).

- ◆ 1. What is the terminal ID (TID)?
The sticker with the eight-digit TID is located on either the bottom or the sides of the device. The TID is also shown under "Trm-ID" on every receipt. By entering the terminal information, you agree to Swiss Lunch-Check having your terminal IDs authorised by the relevant terminal supplier for payments with the Lunch-Check card.
- ◆ 2. Who is your terminal supplier?
(e.g. Aigest, BS Payone, CCV, Innocard, SIX)
- ◆ 3. Are the terminals cash register-integrated?
No: I enter the amount manually.
Yes: The amount is determined by the cash register.

By signing this form, I accept the Articles of Association and the regulations of Swiss Lunch-Check. The latest versions of these are available at www.lunch-check.ch/downloads.

Regulations

The provisions of our Articles of Association apply generally.

1. Acceptance

All companies affiliated to the Swiss Lunch-Check Cooperative shall undertake to:

- ◆ Accept at least one of the means of payment issued by the cooperative.
- ◆ Accept the means of payment only for menus, meals and takeaways and food for immediate consumption, including beverages where appropriate. Their acceptance is not permitted for all other items (especially non-food, smoking-related items and alcoholic beverages not in conjunction with meals).
- ◆ Have their sales associates verify the appropriate use of the card for the defined product groups.
- ◆ Accept the means of payment in accordance with the validity details printed on them.

2. Rules of use and terms of validity

Rules of use:

- ◆ No change may be given.
- ◆ May not be exchanged for cash.
- ◆ No minimum expenditure may be required.
- ◆ No fees may be charged for payment with the Lunch-Check means of payment.

Terms of validity:

- ◆ The validity of paper Lunch-Checks is printed on the reverse.
- ◆ The Lunch-Check cards are valid as follows:
 - ◆ The blue card is valid from Monday to Sunday without time restrictions.
 - ◆ The red card is restricted according to the employer's specifications*
 - ◆ The gift card is valid from Monday to Sunday without any time restrictions and must be processed using the magnetic strip.

* The restriction is implemented technically. The card terminal checks the authorization and refuses the card out-side the allowed time.

3. Non-compliance or abuse

Violations of these rules or of our Articles of Association will be penalised in accordance with articles 8 / 10 / 12 of the Articles of Association. If abuse is suspected, the payment terminal can be blocked with immediate effect.
